Mayor McDonough Establishes Ad Hoc Committee to Review Revenue Enhancement

Raytown, MO — Mayor Michael McDonough has established an ad hoc committee to review the City's tax base pursuant to potential tax increases for the benefit of the community. The committee will begin meeting in the coming weeks and study the Raytown tax levies in comparison to other communities in the region. Additionally, the committee will meet with City staff to identify specific deliverables to be provided if increased taxes were approved by voters at a yet to be determined election.

The Mayor's committee will include the following members:

- Mayor Michael McDonough
- Alderman Jason Greene
- Alderman Ryan Myers
- Tom Cole, City Administrator
- Briana Burrichter, City Finance Director
- Tommy Bettis, Citizen
- Jason Hull, Citizen
- Steve Knabe, Citizen
- Terry Tuggle, Citizen

It is anticipated the committee will present its' findings to the Board of Aldermen and General Public in December 2017.
