Raytown C-2 School District Superintendent named Raytown Citizen of the Year

Mayor McDonough surprises Dr. Allan Markley at Board of Aldermen meeting

(RAYTOWN, Mo.) – During the May 17 Raytown Board of Aldermen meeting, Mayor Mike McDonough announced Dr. Allan Markley as the 2022 Truman Heartland Raytown Citizen of the Year during the reading of a proclamation recognizing Markley for his countless mentorship of youth, volunteerism, and leadership.

Markley, who retired June 30, served as superintendent for 14 years in the Raytown C-2 School District.

“On behalf of the citizens of Raytown, I am delighted to express our grateful appreciation of Dr. Markley’s commitment and service to our children,” said McDonough. “During his tenure, he developed the Three Trails Preschool to equip students with a solid foundation and developed the award-winning community wellness center that provides a safe space for community activities, exercise and water sports, among his many other achievements.”

Actively involved in the community, Markley participates with local organizations to include the Raytown Area Chamber of Commerce and Tourism, Raytown Kiwanis and the Raytown Rotary Club. He is also the recipient of many high honors.

Markley along with other honorees from Eastern Jackson County and surrounding communities will be recognized during the Truman Heartland Community Foundation’s Toast to our Towns Gala on Sept. 24 at the Sheraton Kansas City at Crown Center.
